

The South Wales Extreme and Trail Bike Championship 2021/22

Info:

New for 2021/22 Sherco Off-road and Outdoor Welsh Events have brought to South Wales a 3 round Championship for Extreme and Big Adventure Bikes. The three rounds will take place over December and January will consist of weekend events with Trail Bike Championships on the Saturday and Extreme Championships on the Sunday. Although each event will be held with its own structure and cater for additional classes relevant to each organiser/club, they will provide events for the eligible championship classes which may vary in duration or format. All three rounds to count and all three must be entered to qualify you may DNF and not score points and still qualify for the championship.

Rules/Penalties:

All three rounds to count and all three must be entered to qualify you may DNF and not score points and still qualify for the championship. Riders may enter Saturday or Sunday Events, or both however can't be classified in more than one class per day (i.e. can't enter Over 40 Extreme AM and Clubman Extreme PM). The Class the rider first enters will be the only class they can score points in for each of the championships with exception of Championship/Expert where Championship Riders are to enter Championship @ The Cwm Lladdfa to score points as Championship Riders, the points will then be retrospectively marked for Round 1 where the points will be divided out from Championship/Expert Riders.

For the final round the finishing position of extreme event riders will be the position they finish on the Sunday main event. This event will be two days for the Extreme riders as they will complete a prologue, qualifying and shootout on the Saturday. The classes entered within the prior two rounds will determine the points scored relevant to your class and competitors at Round 3.

There are no tyre restrictions. Trials bikes or converted trials bikes with seats do not qualify for the extreme rounds.
